Greenfield University

Attendance Policy 2023

Effective Date: January 1, 2023

1. Purpose

This policy establishes the minimum attendance requirements for all undergraduate and postgraduate students enrolled at Greenfield University. It applies to all courses across all departments effective from the Spring 2023 semester.

2. Minimum Attendance Requirement

All students must maintain a minimum attendance of 75% in each enrolled course to be eligible to sit for the end-of-semester examinations. Attendance is calculated based on the total number of scheduled lectures, tutorials, and laboratory sessions for each course.

3. Attendance Tracking

Attendance shall be recorded by the course instructor at the beginning of each class session using the university's digital attendance system (GU-Attend v2.1). Students must tap their university ID card at the reader installed at the entrance of each classroom. Manual attendance may be recorded only in cases of system failure, with prior approval from the department head.

4. Consequences of Non-Compliance

Students whose attendance falls below 75% in any course shall be barred from appearing in the final examination for that course. A warning notification will be sent to the student via email when attendance drops below 80%. Students barred from examinations due to attendance shortage will receive an 'FA' (Failure due to Attendance) grade for the course and must re-register in the subsequent semester.

5. Exemptions

Medical exemptions may be granted for absences exceeding 5 consecutive class days, provided the student submits a medical certificate from a registered medical practitioner within 7 working days of returning to class. Students representing the university in official sports, cultural, or academic events may be granted authorized absence for up to 10 class days per semester, with prior written approval from the Dean of Student Affairs.

6. Appeals Process

Students who wish to appeal an attendance shortage must submit Form A-7 (Attendance Appeal Form) to the Office of the Registrar within 14 calendar days of receiving the barring notification. The Attendance Review Committee, comprising 3 faculty members, will review appeals within 21 working days. The committee's decision is final and binding.
